

Conclusion

Petitioner's conviction should be reversed.

Respectfully submit

Luke McKissack

APPENDIX "A"

The Government's position requires that either the majority of the residents of our great nation be kept ignorant of the loss of their Constitutional guarantees or encourage a mass exodus to middle-America to reclaim them.* Dodge City may in truth again become the bastion of law and order. It would seem that such a mass evacuation of the people seems unwarranted by the whimsical need to maintain border checkpoints 100 miles away from our borders.

APPENDIX

Refer to illustration A for a graphic rendering of those persons potentially

Of course, we exclude those solid citizens who may wish to exercise their Constitutional right to travel to coastal areas to gain employment, vacation, or visit their relatives and friends.

APPENDIX

APPENDIX "A"

excluded from Fourth Amendment protections.

The Government's position requires that either the majority of the residents of our great nation be kept ignorant of the loss of their Constitutional guaranties or commence a mass exodus to middle-America to reclaim them.* Dodge City may in truth again become the bastion of law and order. It would seem that such a mass evacuation of the people seems unjustified by the whimsical need to maintain border checkpoints 100 miles away from our borders.

Refer to illustration A for a graphic rendering of those persons potentially

* Of course, we exclude those solid citizens who may wish to exercise their Constitutional right to travel to coastal areas to gain employment, vacation, or visit their relatives and friends.

APPENDIX "A"

The Government's position requires that neither the majority of the residents of our great nation be kept ignorant of the loss of their Constitutional guarantees nor commence a mass exodus to middle-America to reclaim them.* Dodge City may in time again become the bastion of law and order. It would seem that such a mass evacuation of the people seems unjustified by the whimsical need to maintain border checkpoints 100 miles away from our border.
Refer to illustration A for a graphic rendering of those persons potentially of course, we exclude those solid citizens who may wish to exercise their Constitutional right to travel to coastal areas to gain employment, vacation, or visit their relatives and friends.

excluded from Fourth Amendment protections.
The area outside of the heavy black line and within United States continental boundaries, represents the 100 mile "reasonable distance" zone set forth in 8 U.S.C. 1357
(a) and 8 C.F.R. 287.1 (a) (2).

Excluded from Fourth Amendment protections area outside of the heavy black line within United States continental boundaries represents the 100 mile "reasonable distance" zone set forth in 8 U.S.C. 1357
(a) and 8 C.F.R. 267.1 (a) (2).

